API Server (kube-apiserver)

API Server intercepts RESTful calls from users, operators and external agents, then validates and processes them.

During processing the API Server reads the Kubernetes cluster's current state from the etcd data store, and after a call's execution, the resulting state of the Kubernetes cluster is saved in the distributed key-value data store for persistence.

Codographia